Letter from General Taylor.

L. W. Hall, Esq. of Syracuse, forwarded to Gen. Taylor a copy of the "Life and Times of Silas Wright, published by him. He has received the following letter in reply:

My DKAR Sin. Your polite communication of the 10th ulti has been some time at hand, but I have deferred the acknowledgment of its receipt until the arrival of the volume to which it referred. I have now the pleasure of informing you that I have duly received the pleasure of informing you that I have duly received the low with the speaking to offer to you in return my grateful acknowledgments for so valuable a present.

The high respect in which I have always held the character and public services of this eminent patriot and statesman, renders your volume a highly valuable one to me, and I anticipate much gratification in reading this connected history of his conspicuous career in the politics of our country.

I am, Sir, with great respect your ob't serv't.

Mr. L. W. Hall, Syracuse, N. Y.

An expedition was preparing in Buenos Ayres, said to be for Paraguay, but the chances are strong that his Grands will be the point aimed at, by way of squaring secounts with Brazil. At Montevideo everything was poverty and wretchedness, the raising of the blockade laving taken away their trade, and Rosas will allow no vessel to enter, that has presumed to call at this excommunicated spot. The French Admiral has landed four hundred men, to protect the inner lines, which looks like a continuance of support in that quarter; and the French are very short-sighted if they do not take advantage of our stupidity to get possession of a place that would be of so much importance to their maritims and commercial interests.

The slave-trade languishes awhile in the absence of the demand for slaves, steamers and sailing vessels are constantly in motion; a large steamer has just returned from the coast with a full cargo, and also a sailing vessel with about 1,100 claves on board. Some 100 slaves were soized by the Government while in a launch, and confiscated to the use of public works.
